

Questions for Prospective Campuses

Use this list of questions to help guide your conversation with campus contacts. You may want to adapt the questions to fit your program or the campus or other factors that can affect your student volunteer leader initiative.

Campus: _____

Campus Contacts

What departments on your campus would you suggest contacting about this initiative (e.g., student activities, residence life, sociology/education/psychology departments, other)?

What is the name and contact information of someone in that department?

Do you have a volunteer/service-learning office or department? If so, who is a contact person there?

Student Contacts

What individuals or groups on campus should I contact about this initiative (e.g., student body/government president, community service groups, honor/academic groups, fraternities, sororities, sports teams, clubs, leadership groups, residence hall association, others)?

What is their contact information?

Marketing/Recruitment

Whom should I contact about marketing the SVL program on campus?

What is his/her contact information?

Can I post fliers on campus? Where?

Where can I table on campus?

What other marketing techniques work well with students on this campus?

Are there any upcoming events where I could market the program?

Is this program appealing to you? What aspects should be emphasized in our marketing?

Senior Week Event

What is your campus schedule for senior week commencement activities?

Would your campus be willing to collaborate with our program to plan a service event during the senior week activities?

Would your students be willing to participate in a volunteer event in conjunction with more typical senior week activities?

Summer Continuance/Annual Day of Service

What is the student presence on campus during the summer?

Would your campus be interested in participating in a large, multi-campus event once during the school year (e.g., MLK Day of Service, Earth Day, or Make a Difference Day)?

Who might be available during the summer to collaborate in the planning of this event?
